

To whom it may concern:

We need COOL put in force, just as it's written. We have two countries, Japan and Korea, that only want born, raised, and slaughtered U.S. meat. If you don't put COOL in force, we lose two important exports. We have an overwhelming support for COOL in the United States. People ought to be able to have a choice of which meat they want to eat.

The only people against COOL, are packers and NCBA, which is run by the packers. The packers have been working against the cattle producers on everything we try to do to help us get more for our product. COOL will help us in many ways. For one, it will prove that we raise the best beef in the world.

With the BSE in all these other countries, we need to put COOL in effect, people will then know where their meat is coming from.

George Till

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "George Till". The signature is written in a cursive style with a large, sweeping loop at the end of the last name.

Cattle Producer, South Dakota